About Me

I am a passionate and dedicated technology enthusiast currently pursuing Advanced Diploma in Software Engineering (ADSE) at Aptech Pakistan and specializing in Cloud Data Engineering at Saylani Karachi. With strong interests in software development, cloud computing, and data engineering, I aim to build scalable and efficient applications that create real-world impact.

Currently, I am enhancing my skills through academic projects such as websites and a personal portfolio, while continuously learning about web development, cloud technologies, and cybersecurity. Open to opportunities in software development, cloud data engineering, and IT support to grow as a professional.
